

Only Lewis Can Halt Coal Strikes And Truman Crackdown

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON—(P)—A direct signal from John L. Lewis appeared today to be the only possible move which could head off (1) the spread of strikes in key soft coal mines and (2) intervention by President Truman.

More and more soft coal miners dropped their tools this week, and Director James Boyd of the Bureau of Mines told the Senate labor committee yesterday that unless coal production increases at once, "the national economy, health and welfare of the nation is now or soon will be imperiled."

At least 80,000 miners were reported idle and the number was spreading. Steel companies announced more cut-backs and the banking of furnaces for lack of coal. Railroads were laying off workers for the same reason.

The striking miners may be protesting Lewis' order to work only three days a week, or they may be protesting a showdown with coal operators who have held out against Lewis' contract demands.

Spy Hunt Still Big Job In U. S.

Worse Now Than In War, Says Hoover

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON—(P)—The FBI says the job of protecting the country from spies is greater now than at the peak of World War II. Asking for an enlargement of his force, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said in a congressional hearing that the end of the war served only to balloon the work of his agents in protecting the nation's internal security.

Hoover's report was contained in House appropriations committee hearings made public today.

In the same hearing, immigration inspector Watson B. Miller said there are approximately 3,000,000 aliens in the United States—some 3500 of them deportable and free under court bond, but whom no other nation will accept. Assistant Commissioner W. F. Kelly said border inspectors found it almost physically impossible to carry out required examinations at border stations.

As one example of the problem, he explained there are between 8,000 and 11,000 persons in Canada who are officially listed by the Canadian government as subversive.

Hoover asked for $57,400,000 to run the federal bureau of investigation for the fiscal year starting July 1. This is an increase of $594,859 over the current fiscal year.

St. Petersburg Left $10,000 By Doctor, Strings Attached

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(P)—The late Dr. M. M. Miller left property worth about $10,000 to the city of St. Petersburg.

But City Manager Ross E. Wind-down says he doesn't think the city can comply with all the strings attached to the bequest.

The property is located on Sunset Beach, an unincorporated part of St. Petersburg's gulf beaches. Dr. Miller said the city could have the property if it would:

Build a branch library there, build a road to it, name the road "Miller Lane," appoint his cousin, Mrs. Ruth Pettyman, librarian for life, and give her the privilege of naming her successor.

IN MERCY DEATH TRIAL — Carol Ann Paight, above, 21-year-old college senior, is on trial in Bridgeport, Conn., superior court for the alleged "mercy slaying" of her cancer-stricken father last September. Her defense is expected to be based on temporary insanity.

Indonesia Nabs Revolt Suspect

West Java's Premier Held In Uprising

JAKARTA (Batavia) U. S. I.—(P)—Indonesia's government today announced the arrest of the premier of the west Java state on suspicion he was involved in last Monday's guerrilla uprising at Bandoeng.

A spokesman for the government of the United States of Indonesia said Premier Anwar Tojokroaminoto was taken into custody Tuesday, after rebel Indonesians led by Dutchman R. P. P. (Turk) Westerling had raided this capital city. West Java is one of the 16 states making up the U. S. I. The spokesman said the U. S. I. government had arrested two other Moslem leaders suspected of being involved in the troubled west Java situation. They were Abikusno Tojokroaminoto, a Rebulet of Indonesia delegate to the Hague round table conference, and Arudji Kartawinata, former vice-minister of defense of the Indonesian republic.

All three are members of the Islamic party P. I. I., which is a rival of the large rightist Moslem party Masjumi, one of the chief supporters of the U. S. I. government headed by Premier Mohamed Hatta.

The arrests indicated government officials feared the raid by Westerling's forces was linked with the rebellion of fanatic Moslems who have proclaimed a separate state of "Darul Islam" in west Java. Tojokroaminoto had conferred with Westerling in Bandoeng last week after the guerrilla leader demanded in an ultimatum to the U. S. I. government that his rebel force be authorized to police west Java.

The ministry of labor report in the January Gazette gave ammunition to union workers who have been arguing for raises despite the government's two-year voluntary freeze on most pay scales.

But political experts believed leaders of the 8,000,000-member trades union congress would manage to keep pressure to a minimum to avoid embarrassing the Labor Party in its campaign for re-election Feb. 23.

The ministry's report showed: Between December, 1948, and December, 1949, the index of wage rates increased two points to 109 per cent of the June, 1947, level.

At the same time the retail price index went up four points to 113 per cent of the same base level.

The food price index rose 12 points to 120 per cent, partly because devaluation of the pound Sept. 18 increased the dollar price of wheat from America.

Weekly wage boosts during the year were estimated at 1,073,700 pounds, ($3,006,360), divided among 5,198,500 workers. This was the lowest in ten years.

Sherwood To Run Against Bennett In 12th District

STAMBAUGH, Mich.—(P)—E. Burr Sherwood, 45, Iron county superintendent of schools, announced his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination as congressman from Michigan's Twelfth district.

He is a member of the Michigan economic development commission and was Democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instruction in 1945 and 1949.

Sherwood is the first candidate to enter the 1950 congressional race in the twelfth district which embraces the following eight counties in the western part of the Upper Peninsula: Gogebic, Houghton, Marquette, Dickinson, Iron, Baraga, Ontonagon and Keweenaw.

The incumbent Republican, John B. Bennett of Ontonagon, is serving his second consecutive term.

White House Schedule Unset By Wedding

WASHINGTON—(P)—A wedding today interfered with the schedule of White House news conferences.

A conference usually is held each Thursday. President Truman shifted this week's to tomorrow, so that newspapermen could attend the wedding of Drucie Snyder, daughter of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, this afternoon.

Mr. Truman plans to attend also.

Hearts Touched By Connecticut Mercy Killer, 21

Jury Completed For Trial Of Carol Ann

By ARTHUR EVERETT

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—(P)—Blonde, slim Carol Ann Paight, pleading murder for mercy's sake, has touched some hearts in Connecticut.

Two prospective jurors at her second degree murder trial were excused yesterday. They frankly said they might have pulled the trigger—as she did—against the head of a cancer-stricken man.

Carol Ann's man was her policeman father, 52, a pal since her childhood. She shot him to death in his hospital bed last Sept. 23. She knew he had cancer, but he had not been told.

Carol Ann's penalty, if she is convicted of murder, is life in prison—at the age of 21.

Eleven jurors had been approved yesterday, in the second day of her trial in the Fairfield county superior court. The last juror is to be selected today. So will two alternates, who would replace any regular juror who might become ill.

The state quickly dismissed the two jury prospects who startled the crowded courtroom with their approval of mercy killing—a subject that has aroused nation-wide discussion.

But another prospect, quiet, dark-eyed, 40-year-old Mrs. Alice

British Wages Falling Behind

Prices Go Up Faster Than Pay Scales

LONDON—(P)—With General elections less than a month away the British labor government risked its popularity among workers by announcing today that prices rose twice as fast as wages last year.

The ministry of labor report in the January Gazette gave ammunition to union workers who have been arguing for raises despite the government's two-year voluntary freeze on most pay scales.

But political experts believed leaders of the 8,000,000-member trades union congress would manage to keep pressure to a minimum to avoid embarrassing the Labor Party in its campaign for re-election Feb. 23.

The ministry's report showed: Between December, 1948, and December, 1949, the index of wage rates increased two points to 109 per cent of the June, 1947, level.

Deputy Gets Life For Killing Texas Radio Crusader

BELTON, Tex.—(P)—Big Sam Smithwick was given life imprisonment last night for the slaying of a crusading radio commentator.

The jury of 12 farmers and businessmen handed down a verdict of guilty of murder with malice in the slaying of W. H. (Bill) Mason. The jury also fixed the punishment.

Smithwick's attorney said: "of course we will appeal."

Mason was shot to death last July 29 as he sat in his car in the industrial section of Alice. He had made Smithwick the target of his last broadcast.

He had said Smithwick, a former deputy sheriff, owned property on which a night club on the edge of Alice was located. Mason charged that prostitutes frequented the place in search of business.

Smithwick testified during the trial that he shot after Mason grabbed at the gun he was holding.

ESCANABA QUEEN — Miss Delight Harkins, 17, pretty daughter of Mrs. Arvid Aronson of Escanaba, Route One, (Ford River) was chosen Escanaba Queen last night. She received her royal crown from Mayor Robert E. LeMire, in appropriate ceremonies in the Delft Theatre. Miss Harkins, a high school senior, competed with 10 other Escanaba young women for the honor. It entitles her to compete with other U. P. community queens for the title of Queen of the North, to be conferred here Feb. 11. The Escanaba queen is five feet, two inches tall, has sparkling blue eyes and light brown hair. The Misses Judy Shaw, Lorraine Gardner, Dora Rose and Aileen Gaffney were selected to serve in the queen's court. (Daily Press Photo)

Chrysler Walkout May Last Month

DETROIT—(P)—The CIO United Auto Workers faced up to a possibly long strike today for the kind of pension plan they want from Chrysler.

Some union sources said the strike, which started at 10 a. m. (EST) yesterday, might last at least a month. It immediately idled 106,000 workers.

State and Federal labor mediators, however, expressed hope that bargaining talks could be resumed this week.

Both company and union representatives said they were willing to return any time the mediators arranged a meeting.

At a dead stop was the daily production of 7,000 automobiles by Chrysler, one of the industry's three top producers. Chrysler's major rivals are Ford and General Motors.

Basically, the company-union fight was over the form and administration of $100 monthly pensions.

Chrysler offered a pension plan allowing workers to retire at 65, after 25 years of service, on $100 a month, including Social Security benefits. A five-year contract was proposed.

It also offered an improved health and welfare program. The company insisted, however, on retaining full control of the pension setup.

The union demanded a package of benefits worth 10 cents an hour per worker, written into the contract. The union also offered to settle for a ten-cents an hour

Weather Goes On Real Binge

Cotton Blooms; Snow Belt In Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's weather was on a climatic binge today.

There was bitter cold and mountainous snow over the northern plains.

Cotton was blooming in Orangeburg county, S. C., five months ahead of schedule. At East Point, Ga., an Atlanta suburb, a quince tree was in bloom.

A new storm struck the Pacific northwest and the coldest weather in 60 years hit eastern Washington.

In Virginia, trees were budding and flowers were blooming as January heat records toppled in many communities. The mercury climbed to 73 at Richmond and 78.3 at Norfolk yesterday, all-time records for the date.

Rain pelted wide areas. Freezing rain splashed many sections and travel skidded to a crawl.

The mild weather brought record high temperatures over parts of lower Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and southwestward into Arkansas yesterday.

There was snow, sleet and rain over much of Iowa and Wisconsin. Heavy snow fell in Upper Michigan, northern Wisconsin and northwestern Iowa.

The 76 reading at Pittsburgh yesterday was the city's highest winter mark and Chicago's 67 was a record for January.

Big Counterfeit Ring Traced To Jackson, Mich.

JACKSON, Mich.—(P)—The federal secret service and city police, picking up an international trail, sought today to smash a suspected counterfeit ring.

One man was under arrest here. Two other Michigan men—meanwhile remained in custody in Mexico.

Evidence indicated, police said, that the seat of the bogus money makers was in Jackson and that several thousand dollars in fake bills might be involved.

A search was being made for plates and a lithograph on which counterfeit $10 bills were said to have been printed.

The identity of the man in custody here was not disclosed.

His arrest followed the detention in Mexico earlier this week of Roy C. Ray, 32, of Jackson, and Lane H. Lloyd, 32, of Ann Arbor.

Ray formerly published a shopping paper here and was at one time fire chief of Summit township near here.

Lloyd was said to have admitted meeting Ray in Little Rock, Ark., and being offered $3.50 for each fake $10 bill he could cash.

The investigation led to Jackson when Ray told police that a Jackson man had $5,000 in bogus money and counterfeiting equipment.

Chief Gallagher said $1,000 in phony $10 bills was made here and the plates destroyed.

The lithographing was said to have been performed in a downtown office building here.

Baby Blockade Stops Germans

Soviets Hold Trucks On Berlin Autobahn

HELMSTEDT, Germany—(P)—An American army truck convoy crossed the Soviet zone frontier without difficulty early today. But nearly 400 German trucks were caught in the five-day Russian "baby blockade" on the Berlin autobahn traffic.

Soviet guards at Helmstedt quickly cleared some 40 American vehicles loaded with supplies for the Berlin military post. The U. S. Army instituted a once-a-week convoy to Berlin last summer to test periodically Russia's good faith in ending the Berlin blockade.

The Soviet slow-down was more vigorous against German traffic today than any time since it began without warning last Sunday.

Allied officials in Berlin still minimized the possible future scope of the Russian blow to the city's communications with the west.

They suggested these aims might be behind the newest harassment:

Force Berlin freight to shift from trucks to the Soviet zone railway, thereby increasing west-mark revenues for the Russian-controlled management.

Shake the confidence of West Berlin inhabitants in the Western powers.

Plug the leakage of dismantled industrial equipment and other forbidden items from Berlin to Western Germany.

Price Of Ore Raised 50 Cents Per Ton By Cleveland Cliffs

CLEVELAND—(P)—The Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. yesterday announced a 50-cent per ton increase in the price of iron ore for 1950 delivery.

The company said it already had sold "substantial" tonnages of ore with 51.50 per cent natural iron content at these new prices:

Merabi Range Non-Bessemer, $7.70; Merabi Range Bessemer, $7.85; Old Range Non-Bessemer, $7.91; Old Range Bessemer, $8.10; Fair Phosphorus, $7.70.

A spokesman said postwar price adjustments on ore have lagged behind hikes on other materials related to the steel industry. He claimed that during the war mining costs rose rapidly while the ore price remained practically unchanged.

Shanghai Pounded By Heavy Bombers

TAIPEI, Formosa—(P)—Nationalist China's air force announced that heavy bombers pounded Red Shanghai's waterfront yesterday. Pilots claimed direct hits on seven ships from 1,000 to 3,000 tons and said several warehouses were left in flames.

Convicted Man Is Old Friend Of Secretary

Red Influence Rapped On Capitol Hill

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson's suddenly famous statement that "I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss" stirred Republican wrath today.

A number of those who have been arguing that the Roosevelt-Truman administrations have been "soft" toward Communism prepared to follow the lead of Senator Mundt (R-S. D.).

Mundt directed a three-hour attack on Hiss, Acheson and administration foreign policies late yesterday in the senate.

Of Acheson's statement that he wouldn't turn his back on Hiss—an old friend and state department associate who has been convicted of perjury in a trial that linked him with Communists—Mundt had this to say:

"The important thing is not the manner in which Dean Acheson permits Hiss to influence the position of his back—the thing that Americans would like to know is how far Dean Acheson has permitted Hiss to influence his mind."

No Rush To His Side

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) wanted to know whether Acheson's statement "might be an indication that the secretary of state is also telling the world that he will not turn his back on any of the other Communists in the state department."

There were some informal expressions of admiration for Acheson on Capitol Hill, based on the theme of personal loyalty, but there was no apparent rush to his side.

One Democrat, Rep. O'Toole of Brooklyn, criticized the state department chief. O'Toole told a reporter:

"If Secretary of State Acheson has been quoted correctly, I feel that he has done the greatest disservice to due process of law and the democratic way of life that has ever been done by any high American public servant."

Acheson's remark, at a news conference, came within a few hours of the sentencing of Hiss to five years on conviction of lying in swearing that he never passed any secret state department documents to an agent for the Communist underground. Hiss maintained his innocence and pledged he would vindicate himself.

The secretary of state, with

Governor Asks Inquiry In Feuding Justice's Case At Grand Ledge

LANSING—(P)—Governor Williams was asked by the State Association of Justices of the Peace today to investigate a Grand Ledge controversy over the activities of Justice of the Peace Charles F. Young.

Justice Young, a 70-year-old federal pensioner, has been feuding and fighting with law enforcement officials and citizens. He recently slapped contempt of court sentences on Grand Ledge police Chief William Carter, newspaper editor Frank C. Weiner, and Winert's attorney, Quentin Ewart.

The association said that it would not defend any justice who is in the wrong, but that it believed the public should be given the complete facts of the case.

Asserting that it endorsed high standards in all justice courts, the association said that Justice Young should be publicly vindicated if an impartial and thorough investigation showed him in the right.

BLE Day Speaker Urges Good Will Program For Business And Industry

Business and industry owe the private enterprise system the obligation to make good friends in every community, Richard E. Roberts, Ford Motor company official, told a Business-Industry-Education Day audience last night.

Speaking at a banquet program in St. Joseph parish hall, the manager of employee relations for the Ford Motor company, said that besides providing work, as steady and well-paid as possible, business and industry must sell itself to its employees and to the community in which it operates.

Good understanding will assure continuation of the free enterprise system, which has made this nation outstanding for its high standard of living, Roberts said. About 400 persons, including Delta county teachers, and representatives of business and industry, attended the banquet.

Employment First

Roberts' address, in part, followed:

If a company prospers and expands its operations, the community prospers with it. Conversely, if a company falls upon hard times, the community suffers with it.

But people expect a company to do more than furnish jobs and pay good wages. One of the primary responsibilities that they attach to any company is that it be a good employer.

And, since the most powerful influence on a company's community standing is what its own employees think and say about it, the logical starting place—and the most effective approach—in any community relations program is among the employees of the company. In fact, some companies consider community relations as fundamentally an extension of their basic employee relations efforts.

None of us can mistake the growing emphasis which both workers and the community place upon steady employment, welfare benefits, pensions, social insurance and greater recognition of the employee's role in our society. The emergence of the welfare state is fundamentally a manifestation of the widespread human urge for security in both an economic and a non-economic sense.

An effective program of human relations should provide the common ground upon which the wants of both management and employees can be realized. The foundation upon which this program must be built is understanding.

If we cannot succeed through understanding and cooperation, it doesn't seem likely that we can succeed by any exercise of force. We cannot, for example, expect legislation to solve our problems, for when free men give up the task of trying to get along with each other and pass the buck to government, they surrender a large measure of their freedom.

What is needed is industrial statesmanship instead of industrial antagonism. The public and especially the community—interest requires that we find ways to eliminate industrial warfare without impairing or diminishing the rights which both management and labor must continue to enjoy. We will always have some honest differences of opinion, but we certainly can deal with these on a more human and professional plane.

Telling the Story

In this we must have the wholehearted cooperation of responsible union leadership. Where union leaders are unwilling or unable to assume the obligations that go with real leadership, the employees, the company the community may suffer.

Never has it been as vital for business and industry to have the confidence and respect of their own employees and the public. Never has it been so necessary to get the record straight, to get across the story of how business works—how it bakes and divides the pie. This, too, is essentially a human relations job.

If each company were to tell its own story, to its employees and the community—its organization, its business, its products, its history and development, its employee benefits and services, and some idea of the favorable and unfavorable economic factors affecting the company's prosperity—it would help create a better understanding not only of its own problems but of the problems of business and industry generally. This understanding is vitally necessary if our American system of private enterprise is to continue to produce more and better goods for more people at lower cost.

Teachers Can Help

That is the surest road to low costs and prices and a higher standard of living for the nation as a whole. It is the road to a healthy economy, and it is only in a healthy, prosperous and well-run nation that we can afford the highest possible wage rates and the steadiest possible employment.

Your own program here today is one of the best and most effective means of telling the business and industry story to the community. I think it is especially important and appropriate that the teachers of a community should know and understand the role of business and industry in community and national life. They are training the young men and women who will make up the community in later years.

Perhaps in your future Business-Industry-Education programs, business leaders and teachers will find many opportunities to develop a better understanding of the social, as well as the economic, importance of business and industry in Delta County. If this understanding can be spread throughout the community, and throughout all the communities of the country, we need not fear for the continuation of our private enterprise system.

Four Injured On Toboggan

2 Gladstone Youths Are Hospitalized

GLADSTONE.—Four Gladstone youths were injured about 4 p. m. Wednesday when a toboggan they were using crashed into a tree on a toboggan run east of the Gladstone Winter Sports Park.

Two of the youths, David LaVelle, 21, a soldier on furlough from duty with the army in Alaska, and Jack Olive, 17, are receiving treatment in St. Francis hospital. LaVelle has internal injuries and Olive a concussion and facial lacerations.

Lawrence (Larry) LaVelle Jr., 16, suffered a severe cut over his right eye and facial lacerations, and Norman Thivierge, 16, suffered a sprained left ankle. Larry LaVelle, Thivierge and Olive are students of Gladstone high school.

The youths were brought to Gladstone by ambulance and were treated there by a physician, after which Olive and David LaVelle were taken to the hospital.

Little Man Shoots Estranged Wife Who Wouldn't Come Back

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — The dumpy little man stopped his estranged wife in front of her home and asked her to come back to him.

When she refused he pulled a gun, fired four shots. His wife lay dead on the sidewalk beside a loaf of bread that had rolled out of her shopping bag.

The little man, 57-year-old John Oravsky, had a bloody hand where he had shot himself. Police said he wrapped his hand in his handkerchief, threw the gun into a sewer, and calmly waited for police to come. His neat overcoat was spattered with blood.

He freely told Patrolman Charles Matthews and passersby how his wife of 13 months, Elizabeth, 57, wouldn't come home. She had gone to live with a nephew about two months ago.

Matthews, who was summoned to the scene by a passing motorist, said Oravsky surrendered meekly. The bespectacled furrier was charged with murder.

"Rented the first day" said Smith.

U. P. Recovering From Weather, Of All Kinds

Delta county was digging through snowdrifts today, Menominee county had thunder and lightning, Houghton was blanketed under another foot of snow and temperatures dropped to 15 below in Gogebic county.

In Mackinac and Chippewa counties the snow was followed by rain. Rumbblings of thunder were heard in Delta county at the height of the blizzard yesterday evening.

Most snow fell along the Lake Superior shore and westward in the Peninsula. Schoolcraft county reported 10 to 12 inches of snow.

U. P. Chinchilla Breeders Attend Denver Convention

M. A. Trams, Escanaba, Frank LeMaire, Marquette and Robert J. Wilkenson, Bark River, returned Wednesday night from Denver, Colo., where they attended the annual international Chinchilla show.

The three day session, held in the Cosmopolitan hotel in Denver, was attended by several hundred chinchilla breeders from the United States and Canada. Approximately 300 animals were entered in competition for show awards.

A large portion of the show time was devoted to meetings and discussions on matters of interest to the breeders, and included such subjects as breeding, herd improvement and methods of ranching.

Highlighting the event was the annual banquet and style show which attracted nearly 1,000 people. Fur garments in various styles in mink, fox, beaver, sable and chinchilla were featured.

Chinchilla breeders in attendance expressed complete confidence in the leaders of the national breeders association and pledged full cooperation in the new program which has been designed to lead the industry to a successful pelting market.

DEATH TAKES HOLIDAY
CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo. — (AP) — Unlike most Colorado gold camps, Cripple Creek had little of Indians, trappers and vigilantes in its early history.

It developed from a gold discovery in the 80s and from the beginning had telegraph, railroads and brick buildings.

Half Million Fish For Free In Michigan

LANSING. — (AP) — Michigan, with one of the largest armies of licensed fishermen in the nation, apparently has another half to three-quarters of a million anglers who fish "free," the state conservation department estimated today.

In 1948, the last year for which complete figures are available, the state licensed 1,089,000 fishermen.

Checks on trout streams indicate, the department said, that 20 per cent of all trout fishermen are wives of licensed resident anglers or children under 17 years of age, who may fish free. This would boost the number of trout fishermen to 200,000.

The number of unlicensed fishermen is also boosted 25 to 50 per cent, the department said, because those who fish on great lakes and connecting waters need no licenses.

Rock Causes Wreck On Southern Pacific

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. — (AP) — Southern Pacific railway crews labored at the edge of a lake and under a thawing blizzard today to restore mainline tracks blocked by a freight train wreck.

Officials hoped the route would be cleared of wreckage of 21 smashed freight cars and the rails relaid by noon. A huge mountain type locomotive lay beside the scene. It will be moved later.

Fireman James H. White, 45, Klamath Falls, was the only man hurt when the locomotive hit a five ton boulder Saturday night. He injured an ankle in a leap from the engine cab.

Thawing weather was blamed for the fall of the rock 18 miles north of here. It plummeted from the high bluff known as Modoc Point, smashed a section of high-way paralleling the tracks at a higher point and rolled to the rails.

Death Claims Mrs. Jackson

Mother Of Judge Dies At 82

GLADSTONE—Mrs. Margaret M. Jackson, 207 South Ninth street, mother of Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson, died at 3 p. m. Wednesday in St. Francis hospital. She was 82 years old.

Death followed a recent heart attack. She had been a patient at the hospital for the past several days.

Mrs. Jackson, the widow of Ashley Jackson, was born Sept. 19, 1867, at North Creek, Ohio, the daughter of William and Mary Schaefer. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson moved to Gladstone in 1898 and during their lifetime were prominent in the civic and social life of the community.

At the time of her death Mrs. Jackson was vice president of the Cleveland Milling & Supply company of Gladstone.

Surviving besides the son, Judge Jackson, are a daughter, Mrs. (Edith) France of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. John Hiltner of Continental, O., and Mrs. Ora Fenstermacher, Leipsig, O.; and one brother, Louis Schaefer of North Creek, O. Three grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive.

The body is at the Kelly funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, with the Rev. Glenn Kjellberg, pastor of the Memorial Methodist church officiating.

Vast State Of India Becomes Republic In British Commonwealth

By MARC PURDUE
NEW DELHI—(AP)—India became a full-fledged republic today with the inauguration of its new constitution and the installation of its first president.

At solemn ceremonies in the former throne room of Britain's viceroys retiring Governor General Chakravarti Rajagopalachari read the proclamation of the republic, ending that vast Asian sub-continent's allegiance to the British crown.

India, a British dominion since she won her sovereignty Aug. 15, 1947, now becomes a voluntary economic and political member of the British commonwealth.

After the reading of the proclamation, Rajagopalachari conducted 64-year-old Rajendra Prasad to the president's chair. Prasad, a disciple of Mohandas Gandhi, was sworn in as India's first president by Chief Justice Harilal J. Kania. As the governor general's flag was lowered from the flagstaff of government house and the president's banner was hoisted, a military band blared India's newly official national anthem, Jana Gana Mana. A 31-gun salute boomed in the courtyard.

Convicted Hiss Gets Backing Of Secretary Acheson

some emotion, told reporters: "I should like to make it clear to you that whatever the outcome of any appeal which Mr. Hiss or his lawyers may take in this case, I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss."

"I think every person who has known Alger Hiss or has served with him at any time has upon his conscience the very serious task of deciding what his attitude is and what his conduct should be," Acheson said it was clear to him what his own stand should be.

He referred reporters to the Bible, to the words of Christ relating how righteous people fed the hungry, gave drink to the thirsty, took in the stranger, clothed the naked and visited the prisoner.

The Biblical passage he cited ends: "Inasmuch as you have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

McCarthy brought up the Acheson comment about not turning his back on Hiss, while Mundt was making a detailed review of the entire Hiss case on the senate floor.

Mundt remarked that Acheson "speaks from the affinity of a close and long-established friendship, and a business relationship with his brother (Donald Hiss), with whom he (Acheson) was a partner in the law business."

Justice Criticized—Because of this, Mundt added, he does not believe that Acheson "is exactly what we would call an objective witness as to the loyalty of Alger Hiss."

Only a few Democrats were present and they listened in silence.

Mundt also criticized Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter for testifying in behalf of Hiss at the first trial, which ended with a hung jury.

He said Justice Frankfurter had "dragged the hallowed robes of the supreme court into a criminal court as a character witness for a man now convicted of perjury."

Mundt credited Hiss with the ability to work his way into confidence of high men in government where he could control policy-making.

A few still say he is just a nice young man with a Harvard accent and a neat crease in front of his trousers," the senator said.

"No wonder he could fool Dean Acheson," he added later. "He was suave, able, ingenious. But he wasn't smart enough to cover up his tracks."

Mundt as a house member served on the un-American activities committee which turned up the startling testimony of Whit-taker Chambers, self-admitted former Communist spy ring operator. Chambers was the key witness against Hiss at both his trials.

Without this committee, Mundt said, there would have been "no conviction of Alger Hiss nor an exposure of the Communist-espionage ring in the government."

"A whole ocean of red herrings won't obscure that," he added, referring to President Truman's description of the committee investigation as a red herring.

FARM WEEK OPENS

EAST LANSING—(AP)—Michigan's farm people will flock to East Lansing next week for the annual farm week program at Michigan State College. A throng of more than 35,000 agriculturists is expected for the 35th annual observance from Jan. 30 to Feb. 3.

Two Peninsula Men Awarded Carnegie Medal

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—A 20-year-old Kenyon College student who suffered severe burns in saving two friends during a fire Feb. 27, 1949, topped the list of 15 persons given awards by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The bronze medals were distributed yesterday to men, women and children in nine states. Recognition was given five heroes who lost their lives. In three of these cases, pensions of $2,400 a year were granted. Death benefits of $500 were awarded in another case. Payments of $3,750 were made in eight instances for education, home purchases or other purposes.

The heroic college student is Edwin T. Collins, of Detroit, who saved two friends during a dormitory fire at the Gambier, O., college.

Collins was credited with leaping four and a half feet from a third floor window to a fire escape platform after the other students had been trapped. He then steadied the ladder, helping his friend reach the platform. Six students died in the blaze.

Four Michigan awards for heroism were among those announced today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. Bronze medals were awarded: Edwin Thomas Collins, 21, (20675 Vernier Circle, Grosse Pointe Woods) Detroit; Edward R. Irish, 62, (Route 1), Birch Run; Roy J. Jacques, 40, (801 West B St.) Iron Mountain; and Charles W. Anderson, 23, (709 North Second St.) Ishpeming (posthumously).

Rescuer Loses Life

Anderson lost his life Sept. 5, 1948, saving two girls from drowning in Goldmine Lake.

He held Jeanette and Joan Johnson, sisters, above water until a rescue boat was only five feet away, then sank. The Johnson girls and three others were saved by the rescue boat, after their own was swamped.

Collins won his medal for saving two fellow Kenyon College students from a fire that killed nine at Gambier, Ohio, Feb. 27, 1949.

The Detroiters leaped four and a half feet from his third story window to a fire escape ladder. Then caught Will Pilcher as he jumped from a third floor perch to the ladder.

Descending through smoke and heat, Collins called to Leon A. Peris to leap toward him at the second floor level. He caught the heavier Peris and swung him to the ladder.

Neither Pilcher nor Peris was hurt, but Collins found upon reaching the ground that his hand had been seared by the hot ladder and that he had suffered ear and facial burns. It took him three weeks to recover.

Irish, a railroad trackman, all but lost his life in fighting two-year-old Gerald W. Wilson from the path of a train at Bridgeport, Oct. 13, 1947.

Running 200 feet toward the approaching train, the aged Irish rescued the child and flung himself to safety as the 60-mile-an-hour train was within 15 feet of them.

Motorboat Swamped

Jacques, a grocer, saved Robert J. Harris, 33-year-old jeweler from the Menominee River April 15, 1948.

Their motorboat was swamped by waves and Harris became entangled in a fishing line. Jacques, heavily clothed, swam 30 feet against a current to free Harris, then grabbed him three times as he lost his grip on the floating bow of their boat.

An hour after Jacques first freed Harris a police rowboat reached them. Harris became unconscious just as the boat arrived, but both he and Jacques recovered from shock and exposure.

Boat Saves Family Marooned By Rising Of Muskegon River

BIG RAPIDS—(AP)—Officers and volunteers used a boat early today to rescue a mother and her seven children whose home was threatened by rain swollen waters of Muskegon river.

The barking of their dog shortly after midnight aroused Mrs. Milo Danes, whose husband is employed as a night watchman in Big Rapids.

She looked out the window of their home, which is situated on the bank of Muskegon river four miles north of here. Water was lapping at the first floor.

Mrs. Danes and her eldest son, Junior, 13, waded through knee deep water to seek help, then returned to carry the younger children to comparative safety on the second floor.

Meosota County Under-sheriff Harry Hesley and neighbors made several trips with a boat from high ground to bring ashore the mother, Junior, Frances, 4 months, Susan, 2, Marvin, 11, Betty, 8, Robert, 7, and Larry, 6.

By that time the water was up to the windows on the first floor. Heavy rains were believed responsible for the river's sudden rise.

Average weight for new-born babies in the United States is 7 pounds 4 ounces for boys and 7 pounds for girls.

Peninsula Meetings Keep Governor Busy

LANSING—(AP)—Governor Williams went to the Upper Peninsula today for another round of activities north of the straits. He planned to attend a private luncheon at Munising this noon, to inspect the Newberry state hospital this afternoon, to be a guest at the annual Newberry Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight and then to attend a hospital employees' dance.

NEWBERRY—(AP)—Gov. Williams will call square dances to night as an added entertainment feature following the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. The governor is on the program for an address.

Faculty, Students Meet Friday; Plan Citizenship Study

Representatives of the student body and the faculties of Escanaba Senior and Junior high schools, St. Joseph's high school, Gladstone high school and Rapid River high school will meet at 2 p. m. Friday in Room 200 at Escanaba Junior high school to discuss plans for a second annual citizenship conference, to be held in May.

The conference, the date of which has yet to be set, is sponsored by University of Michigan Extension Service with co-sponsorship of the high schools.

Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, director of the bureau of school services, University of Michigan, will meet with the student committees and faculty members in making arrangements for the citizenship conference, to be held in Escanaba.

Treasurer Hunter, 83, Digs For 40 Million In Downtown Miami

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—George B. Mobley, 83, is busy digging a big hole in downtown Miami and says he is looking for $40,000,000 in gold.

So far the hole, now about 20 feet deep, has yielded a blue glass mason jar patented Nov. 30, 1858 and a wine bottle dated 1853. "I don't want any antiques," he said. "I want the gold that's in there."

A handful of onlookers watched yesterday as Mobley demonstrated his glass, metal and wood-mining divining rod. It leaned toward the hole, partially filled with water.

Mobley said Pirates hid the gold in springs here when they came to get fresh water in the 16th and 17th centuries, but he's leaning heavily on his rod for the exact location.

Two years ago Mobley sought $4,000,000 in gold in Green Cove Springs, Fla., but found only some old timbers and brass globules.

He said the diggings cost his backer, Dr. H. H. Humphreys, Jacksonville physician, $3,800.

British Firm Pays In Boston Robbery

NEW YORK—(AP)—The National Surety company said today that British underwriters will cover the loss in the $1,500,000 Brinks armored car service robbery in Boston last week.

The loss is covered under a special all-risk $1,000,000 policy written by the Commercial Union Assurance Co., Ltd.

Hearts Touched By Mercy Slayer Of Dying Father

Leopold, said bluntly that she could not damn Carol Ann for killing her father, Sgt. Carl Paught of the Stamford, Conn., police.

Mrs. Leopold, Republican State representative and mother of two teen-aged sons, did not say she would do such a thing herself. But she refused to condemn a mercy slayer without further evidence.

She insisted a mother's mercy could not be brushed aside at the will of the State. But she promised to try to consider the case against Carol Ann on its merits.

State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis gave her a long look through narrowed eyes. Then he brought a hum of surprise to the courtroom by accepting her as the 11th juror.

For two days, he had pinpointed each juror on the subject of whether or not they believed in putting a human being out of his misery.

Twice, he nodded a curt dismissal to would-be jurors who admitted they favored mercy killings.

Carol Ann admits shooting a quick bullet into her father's head as he slept in the hospital, still unaware that a diagnosis had revealed incurable cancer.

Her plea is temporary insanity—incurred by the sudden shock of knowing her father was riddled with cancer and had not long to live.

The young girl, as tall, as cool and as unruffled as a glass of ice water, sat through two days of tedious pick-and-choose before the jury shaped up.

She smiled once in a while yesterday and seemed far more relaxed than she did before. On other court days, her body was painfully stiff as she held herself erect in a straight-backed courtroom chair.

Threat Of Phone Strike In State Is Not Imminent

Herbert F. Lange, vice president of Michigan Bell Telephone company, has reported that contracts between Michigan Bell and the Communication Workers of America, CIO, gives a confusing and misleading impression of the telephone labor situation in Michigan.

"Michigan Bell wishes to clarify the picture as it affects its operations," Lange's statement follows: "The publicity campaign being carried on from Washington by Joseph A. Beirne, President of the Communication Workers of America, CIO, gives a confusing and misleading impression of the telephone labor situation in Michigan."

"The facts are these: 'Contracts between Michigan Bell and Division 43 and 44, CWA, representing 18,700 of the company's 22,600 employees, are in full force.

"Neither union has made any demands and no bargaining is going on."

"Michigan Bell's present wage rates are based upon recommendations made a little over a year ago by a special fact-finding board appointed by the governor. No change in the wage situation in Michigan has occurred since that time which would warrant any adjustments in telephone wages."

Thunderstorms Sweep Lower Michigan While Peninsula Gets Snow

(By The Associated Press)

Violent winds and unseasonable thunderstorms raked southern Michigan last night (Wed) while temperatures skidded downward from record highs and Upper Michigan's snow cover passed the four-foot mark in some areas.

Winds raging to 75 miles an hour hit Burlington, 20 miles south of Battle Creek, and caused heavy damage at Albion.

Village President Clare Hill of Burlington estimated damage there at $50,000. The storm at Albion was indirect cause of a man's being injured there. A child almost drowned in a torrential downpour at Muskegon.

The storms followed record high January temperatures in southern areas of the state. Detroit and Jackson yesterday registered highs of 67, Flint, Lansing, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids, 65; Saginaw, 62, and Alpena 39.

Some buildings were shifted on their foundations by the Burlington gale, which also uprooted trees, knocked down telephone lines, and damaged outhouses and garages.

Some 50 to 75 trees were felled by winds at Albion. Electric power was shut off to the southern sector of the city for five hours, darkening Albion Memorial hospital, and two telephone cables were snapped.

Nicholas Kavalaris, Albion candy store operator was struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross a darkened street at the height of the storm.

Felled trees blocked U. S. 12 for an hour and a half near Albion.

Farm buildings were damaged along M-60 in the Burlington section. Gale Watkins, of near Tekonsha, lost his kitchen roof, a porch and a hen house.

Seven-year-old Clifford Westerlund fell into a hole dug at a curb in Muskegon to permit drainage of waterlogged areas following a heavy downpour. A passing motorist saw him fall and pulled him out safely.

Battle Creek reported a "terrific rain accompanied by gusts of wind up to 75 miles an hour. No damage, however, was done.

Grand Rapids got a violent electrical storm and a heavy rain. Nash-Kelvinator sent 1,500 employees home when lightning struck its Grand Rapids power plant, putting it out of operation. Low areas were flooded and some power lines downed.

Benton Harbor also got a heavy electrical storm and rain. From a high of 69 at 3 p. m. Wednesday the temperature had dropped 3 degrees to 30 at 8 a. m.

Lansing's winds came in gusts up to 52 miles an hour during a thunderstorm.

Formosa can boast the highest cliffs in the world, notes the National Geographic Society. On the northeast coast they rise 6,000 feet, or almost five times the height of the Empire State building in New York.

Brake Supports Kelly's Candidacy

The announcement by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake that he will not be a candidate for governor but will throw his support to Harry Kelly, former governor, is extremely encouraging to Michigan Republicans. It indicates the solidarity that is developing among Republican leaders on behalf of Kelly's candidacy.

Brake's announcement was not unexpected, even though the state treasurer had previously indicated an intention to seek the governorship. Kelly's candidacy, however, changed Brake's plans. Brake will undoubtedly be the Republican candidate for state treasurer in the fall election.

Brake served in Kelly's cabinet when Kelly was governor and continued in that office under Kelly's successor, Kim Sigler. He was reelected in 1948, even though the governorship was won by the Democratic candidate, G. Mennen Williams.

Kelly's selection for the Republican nomination seems assured, now that Brake is definitely out of the race. With or without opposition in the primary, Kelly is almost certain to win the nomination. He is generally regarded as the best candidate the Republicans can secure to oppose Governor Williams, the probable Democratic nominee.

75c Minimum Wage Law In Effect Now

The new 75c an hour minimum wage law enacted by congress last year went into effect yesterday morning, effecting 22,000,000 workers throughout the country. Many of these workers, of course, were already receiving wage scales in excess of the minimum so their status was unchanged. The law, however, establishes a wage floor as a protection for these workers.

The effect will be felt primarily in low wage industries where pay scales previously were less than the minimum established by the act. The law will be helpful to northern industries that have been forced to compete with southern manufacturers where low wage rates have prevailed. The act exempts workers not engaged in interstate commerce, the retail establishments, farms, labor, small sawmills (less than 12 employees) and woods operations.

The 75c minimum wage standard represents a sharp advance from the previous 40c minimum wage provided by the old law, recognizing the necessity for increased earnings in the face of higher living costs.

Factory Addition Helps Community

CONSTRUCTION of an addition to the former Steele-Wallace building by the Escanaba Foundation is another step forward in the community's aggressive industrial development program. The additional factory space, designed to house the Delta Furniture company, is of particular importance to the community. It means more job opportunities and a strengthening of the economic assets upon which the community's prosperity depends.

It should be noted that this development is another indication of the spirit of cooperation that has made the Escanaba industrial development program successful. The building addition is to be constructed by the Escanaba Foundation, a subsidiary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. It will be leased to the City of Escanaba, rented to the industrial tenant, and ultimately the rental payments will liquidate the construction costs. The property then reports to the city.

This spirit of cooperation is paying off in good dividends to the community. It has made possible, for instance, the rapid expansion of the Harnischfeger Corporation's industrial operations in Escanaba. Numerous other new industries have been benefitted by this program, all of which is helpful to the community as a whole.

Modernizing Schools Is Nation's Need

EVERY year 1,000,000 youngsters drop out of high school. Most don't quit because they can't do the work, for studies show 60 per cent have average or greater abilities. They leave because they're bored or badly adjusted, because the schools don't offer the things they want to learn.

Is it the kids' fault? Frances V. Rummell, writer for the U. S. Office of Education, says not. In an article in the Saturday Evening Post, she pins the blame on school administrators, teachers, and to some extent, parents.

She says the good high schools in America are in a distinct minority. And she quotes Earl J. McGrath, chief of the U. S. office, as rating most elementary schools obsolete and inadequate.

What's wrong with them? Says Miss Rummell: They try to train students for jobs they'll never get and to prepare them for the college education most will never seek.

The emphasis is on the old-fashioned classical curriculum—Latin and Greek, mathematics, the more distant periods of history, subjects too often dry as dust and remote from today's living.

Leading educators want schools to fit students for the lives they are going to lead. Most will never have white-collar jobs because there aren't enough to satisfy everybody. Most will have routine, even dull jobs and will need to find outlet in leisure time activities.

The youngsters themselves supply a clue to their needs. Surveys among students show they want to learn how to get along with people, to manage a home and their everyday finances, to keep healthy, master the problems of marriage, understand civic affairs.

But so many schools and teachers are steeped in the traditional course of study that they resist changes. Parents sometimes support the old way because they want to keep alive the idea that their offspring are heading for the White House, or at least a corporation executive's big desk.

Meantime, the kids get a good deal of their real education from radio, television, movies, comic books and juke joints. Educators predict it will be 50 years before most high schools catch up with the advanced methods of today's best.

We can't afford that half century lag. The well-being and happiness of too many millions are at stake. Why can't parents take the lead in showing our packward schools out of their deep ruts and onto a new path that will carry their children toward the goals they seek?

THE SAME OLD LINE (Christian Science Monitor)

The Licensed Beverage Industries, official public relations arm of the liquor trade, is jubilating this month over the 16th anniversary of repeal.

We are not advocating return of prohibition nor urging it as the best answer to the liquor problem. But LBI's annual eulogy of the liquor industry's contributions to prosperity always demands some reply.

Alcoholic beverages, says LBI, now provide 1,100,000 jobs and $2,700,000,000 each year in wages. But gambling joints, race tracks, and dope peddling also provide jobs and are said to pay quite handsomely. The question is: How many more jobs and more billions in wages would be produced were the money now spent for liquor to go into the purchase of goods and services socially beneficial instead of socially dangerous? LBI always talks as though money spent for liquor were some kind of marked currency which otherwise wouldn't circulate.

The liquor industry, boasts LBI proudly, has paid over $30,000,000 in taxes in the 16 years since repeal. The same old fallacy: The assumption that there could be no economic activity in place of distilling and brewing which might produce even greater taxable wealth. And the same old careful omissions—of such things as the 1,664,670 arrests for offenses traceable directly to liquor reported by 1,654 municipalities last year.

How much of that tax money has gone right back into the extra costs of maintaining police, courts, prisons, hospitals, and destitute families chargeable to this industry's product?

Ah, well! This is all old stuff. But so, perhaps, are our comments. But liquor is brazenly persistent in its endeavor to play the role of public benefactor. Somebody has to be just as stubborn about peeling off the make-up.

FARMING BY HAND (Sault Ste. Marie News)

Norris E. Dodd, director general of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization, who has made a world-wide survey of farm conditions, asserts that many men in charge of agricultural ministries know nothing of farming and never talk with farmers. He found a great need for technical advice and the substitution of simple devices for hand labor. Millions of people who still use ancient manual methods of harvesting and threshing could greatly improve their lot by the adoption of the scythe and elementary threshing helps.

Agricultural efficiency, like democracy, must be attained step by step. Progress from the flail to the tractor and combine must be gradual; it cannot be accomplished by one jump. United Nations agencies may be able to teach many of these simple peoples how to become efficient farmers, working out their own salvation.

Black eyes are possessed by the clever, witty person. Or a fellow slow at ducking.

No man can be called lucky until after the last race.

PROPER USE OF PRONOUNS

A pronoun is a short word that stands for a noun, but does not actually name it. In this sentence there are no pronouns: John gave the book to Mary and Mary thanked John for John's kindness.

Such a sentence, though grammatically correct, is awkward and ugly because of the repetition of the nouns John and Mary. The sentence will be greatly improved if we substitute pronouns for some of the nouns: John gave the book to Mary, and she thanked him for his kindness.

Pronouns are very valuable parts of speech, but when they are carelessly or improperly used confusion is almost sure to result. For example, here is a sentence from a story in a recent magazine: "When Florence's baby was born, she had wanted to hurry to her bedside, but her husband had forbidden it."

Now the subject of that sentence is "baby." So, what the sentence actually says is: "When Florence's baby was born,

New H-Bomb Arouses Fear

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Something very like a strike by many of the scientists who would be expected to plan and design the hydrogen bomb is more than a possibility. It is a probability and, therefore, it is one of the factors that must be seriously weighed.

CHILDS

This would not be an organized movement. It would represent the deep conviction of many men of conscience who could not bring themselves to contribute to an instrument of mass destruction on a scale threatening the very existence of the human race. In private discussions in laboratories and on campuses around the country this view is being expressed.

Atomic fission of uranium has tremendous potential peacetime uses. But there is no foreseeable use for the fission of hydrogen except in a military weapon and that weapon is said to have the power to decimate and destroy everything in an area of 50 to 100 square miles.

POWER IN PEACETIME?

It is this that underlies the doubts and fears troubling many scientists. With uranium fission they could always believe that a vast storehouse of energy would ultimately be available in peacetime at a fraction of the cost of present power sources. But now nearly five years have passed since the first atomic explosion and the problems of the peacetime use of atomic energy are far from solved. An atomic arms race is on. Bombs now in production are far more powerful than the one dropped on Hiroshima and serious consideration is being given to a weapon that may mean final and ultimate destruction.

In order to use uranium fission for peacetime power, the destructive rays must be rendered harmless by some form of containment. If it takes 10 sheets of lead to contain the rays of uranium fission, it would take a thousand for hydrogen fission.

That is oversimplification to the point of absurdity. But it illustrates why scientists cannot foresee anything but a destructive use for the proposed development.

Whether the cost is $2,000,000,000, is, in the scientist's frame of reference, irrelevant. He rebels at being harnessed to a machine that could have as its only goal the destruction of millions of human beings in a mass slaughter that would make large areas of the earth uninhabitable.

Some scientists—and some military men—seriously doubt the value of a hydrogen bomb as a military weapon. Russian industry has been dispersed to a degree little appreciated in this country where any suggested removal from an "exposed" area to a "safe" area is immediately resisted by Chambers of Commerce and politicians.

A weapon built at such great cost in money and resources could have only two or three justifiable targets. No concentration of industry, communications and transportation remotely comparable to New York, Pittsburgh or Detroit exists in the Soviet Union.

FRIGHTENING ASPECT

On the subject of the advances of Soviet industry and its successful dispersal there is sobering testimony in a recently published book. It is "Soviet Arms and Soviet Power" (Infantry Journal Press) by General Augustin Guillaume, who was French military attaché in Moscow from 1946 through 1948. Our own ambassador to Moscow for three years, Lieut. Gen. Bedell Smith, has written a foreword in which he says that Guillaume's "reasoning and conclusions are sound and merit the most careful attention."

Perhaps the most frightening thing about this whole business is the way in which it is taking place in a kind of stratosphere above and beyond the American people. All we get is, on the one hand, Buck Rogers speculation, and on the other hand, hysterical alarmism on the radio from those whose ignorance rivals their determination to create a cheap sensation.

The enveloping veil of secrecy around the whole atomic energy project has been the product of small and frightened minds. Men of larger courage with faith in the processes of democracy have urged repeatedly that the public be given more of the truth.

It is not surprising that so many Americans seem to feel a kind of helplessness and bewilderment. They have a sense that their destiny is being determined once and for all and yet they are powerless to do anything about it. If the decision to develop the hydrogen bomb is now taken behind the existing curtain of secrecy, then this sense of having lost the rights of free men in a free society will seem to be justified.

the baby had wanted to hurry to the baby's bedside, but the baby's husband had forbidden it."

Nothing could be more utterly nonsensical.

This is what the author was trying to say: When her sister Florence's baby was born, Aunt Eulalia had wanted to hurry to Florence's bedside; but Aunt Eulalia's husband had forbidden her going.

Here is another example of loony logic from a recent press dispatch: "Friends of Hopkins, who died several years ago, have vigorously defended his name."

The subject is "friends." Of course we know that it was Hopkins, and not his friends who died several years ago. But that isn't what the sentence says.

A more logical wording would be: Friends of the late Harry Hopkins have vigorously defended his name.

Kansas City: Recently you wrote, "None of the foregoing pronouncements are correct." Why, Mr. Colby? Shouldn't "none" be followed by a singular verb?—Mrs. K.J.

A. It's a matter of choice. "None with a plural verb is the commoner construction."—Webster's New International.

"A Plague on Both Your Houses!"

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

FIGURE SKATING—It has been our pleasure through the years to view the annual Escanaba ice show, and to watch some of the youngsters graduate from that amateur performance into the professional figure skating ranks.

There are now five Escanaba young people in the big ice shows now touring the nation—an unusually large representation of talent from one small community.

The Escanaba ice review this year will be staged Feb. 9-12, inclusive, in the P. State Fair grounds exhibition building.

As usual, it will be an amateur show with many skaters whose ability rates the interest of professional talent scouts.

Back of the show is not weeks or months, but years of figure skating practice. Most of this practice is on public rinks. The boys and girls start in on their neighborhood rink and if they have the stuff—finally arrive at solo spots in the "biggest amateur ice show in the country."

COMMON FAULTS—One of the adult figure skaters in the ice show year after year is Howard Dufour. He has coached little tots scarcely out of kindergarten, skated in the show with teen-age girls who are now in professional ranks. Now in his spare time he teaches a beginner class of figure skaters for the city recreation department—and perhaps out of that group will come the ice show stars of the future.

"Most common fault of the child is that he wants to learn in one night everything there is in the book," Howard said. "The first thing they want to learn is to spin, jump, and 'shoot the duck.' In reality, most of these do not contribute to figure skating at all, but are more or less on the order of gymnastics."

MAKE IT SMOOTH—The figure skater must appear graceful, relaxed, and capable of effortlessly executing the most difficult figures. This can be accomplished only with practice.

Beginners usually lack rhythm, fail to use their body as well as their legs. They fear they may fall—not yet learning that falls and spills will come and are an important part of the training.

Children seldom realize the importance of keeping a good edge on the blades—and walk around on the blades—and even on concrete sidewalks with their skates.

ONE A YEAR—Figure skating takes patience and practice," Howard explained. "If a child at the age of eight could learn one thing a year, and do that well it would be only a matter of a few years until he or she would be an accomplished skater."

Rhythm and smoothness can be learned by listening to and skating to music.

One of the first lessons in skating is to learn how to fall. Howard said, "The skater who falls is immediately back on his feet."

Children should not be bundled into so much clothing that freedom of movement is hampered.

Blades should be sharp at all times. Skate guards should be used to prevent blade damage.

Beginners should learn the figure eight forward, and the left and right foot three, Howard advises. After that? Just keep on trying.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Munising—Mrs. Lyle Atkins and sons Phillip and Richard have left for Chicago to meet Mr. Atkins who recently received his master's degree from Northwestern university. The family will live in Carthage, Ill.

Escanaba—Mrs. C. W. Bissell has left for Miami and Orlando, Fla., where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Manistiquette—Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Hunt of Brockport, N. Y., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Roberta to Dr. T. Boyd Bolitho, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bolitho of this city.

Gladstone—John B. Noblet has left for New Orleans, where he will attend the Mardi Gras, before continuing to the West Coast where he will visit for several months.

Twenty Years Ago

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Praiss have arrived from Detroit for a visit here and in Escanaba.

Gladstone—Mrs. N. G. Murphy of Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, Canada is visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller.

Manistiquette—Miss Martha Creighton has left for a visit in Florida for the remainder of the winter. She was accompanied by Mrs. Leo Bork.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bergman are leaving shortly for Fond du Lac, Wis., where they will make their home. Mr. Bergman has been employed as pharmacist in a drug store, and is leaving to accept a position with a wholesale drug store.

When we think of the high publicized stories of criminal attacks arising out of loose living in university communities, we realize that it is unfeeling to assume that academic life is naturally good.—Dr. D. Elton Trueblood, philosophy professor at Earlham College.

they start on another figure. "It is said that champions have used up more than a thousand hours on one figure—in most cases the beginning figure eight."

Essential as practice is, the skater must have correct well-fitting skates if he is to achieve success. Figure skates are essential. Some of the figures can be done on hockey blades or even racers, but if figure skating is your aim, get figure skates.

The skates must be properly fitted to obtain support for feet and ankles, Howard said. Shoes too large can discourage a beginner; those too small will cramp the toes and stop circulation. Although it may mean a change of skates each year for the growing young skater, proper fit gives the beginner a big break.

TIPS FOR BEGINNERS—Howard gives some tips that will materially aid the beginning figure skater:

Use the body while skating: keep the hands above waist level, with arms slightly away from the body at all times; hold the body erect and bend the knees at each stroke, whether on a backward or a forward stroke.

Children should not be bundled into so much clothing that freedom of movement is hampered.

Blades should be sharp at all times. Skate guards should be used to prevent blade damage.

Beginners should learn the figure eight forward, and the left and right foot three, Howard advises. After that? Just keep on trying.

"Temporary" Spending

Dear Editor:

Two distinguished economists, Beardsley Ruml and J. Cameron Thomsen, recently appeared before a Congressional subcommittee to discuss some of the fiscal problems of the government. They finally spoke of the difference between permanent and temporary Federal obligation and expenditures.

At this juncture, Senator Douglas asked, "Do you really know of any item in the budget which can seriously be called temporary and nonrecurrent?" As one reporter said, "The witnesses couldn't think of any—except a fighting war. In all other cases the government, when it starts spending money on a so-called emergency, keeps right on spending."

Here is one of the reasons why, in spite of incredibly large Federal revenues and back-breaking taxes we are still running a deficit. As the Hoover committee reports pointed out, factually and in detail, the government is literally honeycombed with duplicating, over-lapping, and unnecessary bureaus. Dozens of agencies—each with its own expensive staffs and all the other paraphernalia of bureaucracy—are working in almost identical fields. The Hoover reports indicate that we can cut the cost of the government at least $3,000,000,000 a year without harming any essential function in any way. Some believe the saving could be much greater.

Every department head cries to high heaven when it is suggested that his appropriation be even moderately reduced. Civic organizations and local business men are equally bad offenders in many cases when it is proposed that a cut be made in some activity that would benefit them at the expense of the rest of us. Only a change in this sorry attitude can bring about economical, efficient government.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Georgia's cagey Senator Dick Russell, spokesman for the Southern Democrats, announced at a recent closed-door meeting of senate Democrats that he was ready to compromise on civil rights.

Since this is the biggest issue splitting the Democratic party, the statement is considered significant. However, Russell failed to amplify it and some senators are skeptical, since Russell was needed into his offer of compromise. What brought him to his feet was a lecture on party harmony from Illinois Senator Paul Douglas.

"Remember, party harmony is a two-way street," Douglas scolded the southerners.

Citing instances in which Northern Democrats had bowed to the will of their colleagues from the south he urged: "I hope the southerners will remember this and likewise give a little."

Russell retorted that the southerners had been willing to compromise, but "no one wanted to compromise with us." He then made his offer to come to terms over civil rights. It was suggested by other southern senators afterward that they would not back down on a fair-employment bill but might pull in their horns on the anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills.

BACK TRUMAN ON FORMOSA

Most of the closed-door meeting was spent in a technical discussion of pending legislation and floor strategy into which, however, Sen. Clint Anderson of New Mexico injected the question of Formosa. He suggested that the state department keep the Democrats better informed so they could answer their Republican critics who, he added, seemed to be well supplied with speeches on the subject.

"Every time the Republicans get up, they have a prepared speech," Anderson complained. "If they are able to do that on $1-a-plate dinners, we ought to be able to get a few speeches prepared for us on $100-a-plate dinners."

Except for Ellender of Louisiana, the attitude of the Democratic senators was to support President Truman's stand on Formosa. Their view was voiced by Senators Russell of Georgia and McKellar of Tennessee, who agreed that the "American people don't want to go to war over Formosa."

"UNORTHODOX" MR. BENDER

The Republican policy committee, assembled from all over the country to write a new GOP policy statement, was stolidly eating lunch in the Mayflower hotel.

Across the room, a big, well-dressed man spied the policy-makers. He looked vaguely familiar—like a floorwalker at a swank department store or a Hollywood director. It was George Bender, ex-congressman from Ohio and a Taft booster. Happily Bender strode across the room, whispered a few words to the Mayflower's orchestra director, Sidney, cleared his throat, and roared into song:

"I'm looking over a 4-leaf clover that we overlooked before.

The first leaf is courage, the second is fight.

The third is our party that's always right.

No need explaining, the one remaining is Taft that we adore."

Then, eyeing Harrison Spangler, the GOP national committeeman from Iowa, Bender switched his tune to "Ioway."

Finished with his singing, Bender boomed at the Republican elders: "I'm unorthodox, and I know it, but sometimes I think the party's too orthodox."

Note—Ex-Congressman Bender rented a small elephant to pose with a somewhat gained Taft at the Philadelphia convention in 1948.

BRANNAN PULLS FAST ONE

Charley Brannan, the big, likable secretary of agriculture, is a guileless looking fellow, but he pulled a fast play on the enemies of the Brannan plan.

Secretary Brannan solemnly announced that surplus potatoes, which the government has been buying hand over fist at $1.08 a bushel, would be given to any nation that wanted them. This was hailed as the answer to the spud problem.

Actually, Brannan was slyly pointing out the absurdity of the whole potato price-support program. For here are the inside facts:

1. Potatoes are so costly to transport that no nation will take them even as a gift.

2. Meanwhile, Uncle Sam will have to hand out $80,000,000 to buy an estimated surplus of 67,000,000 bushels. Of this mountain of spuds, only a drop in the bucket—17,000,000 bushels—can be absorbed in school-lunch and welfare programs.

Hypnotism May Be Boon To Husbands

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—Have you hypnotized your wife or husband? Why not?

This is the best solution of everybody's marital problems yet dreamed up.

A New York professor recently indicated that problems of this nature can be solved by the mumbo-jumbo of hypnotism.

He didn't say it quite that way. But he did say that he could hypnotize a gent, snap him out of it and yet still have the guy come back by post-hypnotic suggestion at 3 o'clock the following afternoon to pet a big black dog that wasn't there.

I say that this opens the answer to all the problems of the western world, which are largely male versus female rather than American against Russian. (The Russians must have as much trouble getting along with their wives as we do.)

Personally, fellows, regardless of what you do, I am either going to learn to hypnotize my wife or hire a man to do it for me.

How can a guy afford not to? You take the average wife. What does she give you but a lot of common sense and "love's old sweet yelp?" She has no real appreciation of the mysteries of life that make existence worth enduring—for the male. Her life is ruled by a crass sense of man's injustice, which is the mixed product of lady loneliness, lady insufficiency, and lady propriety. For all this she blames her husband.

A wife not only insists on being boss, but she demands that he not be alone. This is the fatal foolishness that all dictators get caught with: They never realize that power is a solitary enterprise —that nobody is going to admire them merely for their muscle.

Cheap At $25

It also is needless to point out that wives are the soft instruments of power in our civilization. Why remark again upon the female fist in the velvet glove? We all have felt it.

Our only possible defense is—hypnotism.

Personally, I have no desire to fork out $15 to a hypnotist who will mesmerize my wife into calling at my library in mid-afternoon to put a non-existent Dachshund.

Let's be realistic, even if it costs $25—if I can hire a mumbo-jumbo artist who will get her to pat me lovingly on the cheek on the morning after the night before under the mistaken impression that I am a misunderstood Saint Bernard. . . . Well? Bow-wow!

The only danger I can see is that this terrible weapon of hypnotism may fall into wifely hands.

Looking at it that way, boys, our secrets are gone. Our favorite bartenders will sell us helplessly down the river at the snap of female fingers. Our little white lies will stand out like five o'clock shadow at ten p. m.—or like John Dillinger at an FBI chowder party.

Believe me, friends, hypnotism should never become the poor woman's radar. But it can be man's best friend—if he doesn't dog it.

Says Comet Heads Are Frozen

Cambridge, Mass. (P)—Dr. Fred Whipple, Harvard Observatory, has a new theory of the stuff that forms the heads of comets. This is a combination of various ices and of meteoric particles. The ices are frozen water, dry ice (frozen carbon dioxide) and an unusual dry ice which is poisonous carbon monoxide. Frozen methane or marsh gas, ammonia and cyanogen. Frozen methane and ammonia are part of the surface of the planet Jupiter. The meteoric particles would be stones and bits of nickel-iron. Dr. Whipple thinks that the ices melt when the comet gets close to the sun. They freeze again when far away.

German Farmer Finds It Tough

Government Quotas Are Disliked

By ROBERT BALL
PLIENINGEN, Germany—Karl Leiboldt is one of the west German farmers on whom the government is depending for an increase in food production. Now that the former German breadbasket is cut off from the West, and the import-export balance is watched as closely as a patient's pulse, both the German government and the ECA authorities have been laying plans to improve the agricultural yield.

Robert Ball

Leiboldt has read about the plans in the newspapers, but no one has yet contacted him about them. He doubts, however, that he could increase his yield by very much.

We sat in the living room of his pleasant, steep-roofed house in the little farm village of Plieningen. Leiboldt's white-haired, kind-faced wife sat quietly in a chair, listening to us and watching her daughter teach two small neighbor children to build block castles.

Above the table was a photograph of the son killed in action in 1943. Out the window I could see the old church across the way. The date carved in the stone arch of the door was 1518.

The Leiboldt farm contains about ten acres, and besides this, Leiboldt leases about four acres. Unfortunately, as is often the case in Europe, this land, acquired painfully, bit by bit, over generations, is separated into ten small patches, lying at some distance from one another. This means added work, lower efficiency, and much time lost in going from one field to another.

On this land the Leiboldt's raise cabbage (for sauerkraut), wheat, potatoes, and fodder for the four cows and the horse.

Leiboldt uses the three-field system of farming. His crop distribution is thus: Three acres each of winter wheat and oats, two and a half acres of cabbage, one acre of potatoes, and the rest in clover and turnips.

I asked how much milk he got from his cows. "About nine quarts a day from each cow, on a year-round average," Leiboldt answered in his thick Swabian accent. His wife nodded in confirmation. "Two of the cows we breed every year and sell the calves. The other two are sterile," he added mournfully.

"What about crop controls?" I asked. "Does the government tell you what you ought to plant?"

"Oh yes," said Leiboldt. "Ever since before the war." He seemed not at all indignant that the government should tell him what and how much to plant. "It doesn't make much difference," he said. "Most of the time I'd plant the same anyway. The only trouble is that they don't always allot enough land for fodder. It's the quotas, though, that we don't like."

"Quotas? I asked. "The government, calculates what the yield should be from the land we have planted, and then we have to deliver that quota to the mill at harvest time."

He showed me a small printed slip. The blanks had been filled in to show that Karl Leiboldt was expected to deliver at least 4000 lbs. of wheat and 800 lbs. of oats. There were other slips for the other crops and for the milk.

"Suppose the harvest is bad?" I said.

Leiboldt nodded and his wife made a vigorous, indignant motion with her hand. "That's just what has happened," he said. "1947, '48 and '49 were all drought years for us, but the quotas were never lowered. We were supposed to have some left over for ourselves after the quota was filled; at least so they said. But in those years it took nearly the whole yield to fill the quota. Some farmers held back on their quotas and sold the produce to city people for high prices. Maybe we'd have been better off if we'd done that."

I inquired about the market prices of farm produce and Leiboldt snorted. "Look at wheat," he said. "Before the war we got $2.87 for 200 lb. Now we get $3.34. But everything we have to buy has gone up 50 or 100 per cent."

Leiboldt saw little chance of getting more out of his land. He and the other Plieningen farmers already get free advice from the nearby agricultural college of Hohenheim and in order to make any money, they are already obliged to squeeze the land to the limit, using artificial fertilizer to keep up the yield. If he could afford say bean meal, he thinks that he could get more milk from his cows, but in any case, his land

Waterfowl Spending Winter In Michigan

LANSING—The mild winter apparently is encouraging waterfowl to spend the winter in Michigan in larger numbers.

The conservation department's winter survey showed more than 130,000 ducks, geese and other waterfowl remained in the state, compared to 86,000 last year.

A total of 75,000 birds were observed in the southeastern part of the state. Canvasbacks comprised about 30 per cent of the total. Others observed included mergansers, scaups, golden-eyes, red-heads, blacks, buffleheads and mallards. Some 740 whistling swans were also spotted in the region.

In the southwest, about 15,000 geese were observed, nearly double last year's count. Other waterfowl swelled the total to 21,000, compared to 17,000 last year. Blacks, goldeneyes, mallards and mergansers were also seen in the area.

The remainder of the state total were observed in central and northern Michigan open waters.

The number "two" once was regarded as cursed because it was the first departure from unity.

can't support more than five cows. If the government would relax the quotas, he could keep three or four pigs.

I asked him if there were any chance that he might buy more land. "No," he said. "You can't buy land around here anymore. Anyway, my son is gone, and my daughter is marrying a very well-to-do young man. He has more land than I have—and three horses."

Bugs Infest This Country

80,000 Different
Varieties In U. S.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
WASHINGTON—The principal inhabitants of the United States are bugs. Mere man by comparison is insignificant.

Within our borders there are 80,000 different varieties of these insects, some with 16 legs and headlights, some with built-in hypodermic needles, and all with healthy appetites. They eat man's clothes off his back, take the food from his plate, and after they've got him standing there naked and hungry, they chew on him.

If the fight against the bugs ever lets up for one minute, man is doomed. Maybe he is anyway, because bugs are smart and soon learn to thrive on such delicacies as Dichloro Diphenyl Trichlorethylene, which is the scientific word for DDT.

What brings up these melancholy reflections are the hearings which will continue for months before the Food and Drug administration on the 126 different varieties of juices now on the market to kill bugs. The question is what will they do to humans? If some of the stuff we spray on bugs is going to make us curl up our toes, too, then we might as well surrender now to our small enemies with the trick whisks, the extra feet, and the sharp teeth.

Government Bug Men
I dropped in on the proceedings down at the Federal Security building and introduced myself to a couple of solemn gentlemen in black fedoras. "We're bug men," one of them replied. "Government bug men."

There must have been a couple of hundred bug men (and ladies) on the job. They represented all segments of embattled humans: scientists, health authorities, rubabaga growers, chemists and screen door manufacturers. Their problem was no easy one.

If they could figure out a many syllabled chemical that was poison to bugs and pie to man this earth would be heaven, but practically anything that sickens a bug also gives a stomach-ache to man. So what they're trying to do is decide which goes slay the bugs but disappear from the apricots before man eats 'em. Some of the new jawbreaking chemicals are so potent that a fellow sprinkling them on his spinach patch has got to wear a gas mask. The drug boys are wondering what, if anything, such high-pressure dust may do to humans. The experts are here to tell the tale and at length.

-20-Day Story
The agriculture department will discourse on bugs for 14 days; the man from the Geigy Co., Inc., of Bayonne, N. J., figures that if he's not interrupted too often he can tell his story in about 20 days. And so on for many a long week until the drug administration knows all about bugs.

Dr. Fred C. Bishop of the Bureau of Entomology, the first witness told the history of bugs and mankind. The bugs always seem to be one jump ahead. Today they're eating up $4,000,000,000 worth of stuff a year in the United States alone. Let up just once on the fight, he said, and we might as well turn the land over to the bugs.

"They would threaten the very existence of man," he added.

The idea of bug eat bug never has worked out very well, he said. Stepping on bugs is good, except that there are too many trillions of them. That leaves chemicals. These have got to be handled with care. More than a billion pounds were used last year on bugs, he said, but he's seen no real evidence yet that any humans also were poisoned.

I'll drop in again in about a month, in case you're interested (the bug men say you'd better be), and see how man's battle against his mightiest foe is coming along.

Farewell Party

ISABELLA — Neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bonifas Saturday evening for a party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Martin Erickson of Pine Grove who have sold their business and are moving to California. Six tables of cards were in progress with Mrs. Arvid Sundin receiving the high score award, Mrs. Vernon Peterson, second prize, and Mrs. George Mayhew, the guest award. Refreshments were served after which the honor guests were presented with a beautiful traveling bag as a farewell remembrance.

Personals

Fred Bansley of Dunbar, Wis., spent the weekend at the home of his sister, Mrs. Allen Snow.

Oliver Turan of Grand Marais spent the weekend with his mother Mrs. Adeline Harris, and at the Henry Turan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perpich and family of Bessemer were weekend guests of the Isadore Bonifas family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Vinette, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Moberg, Don Douville and Felix Cavenberg attended the recent dart ball banquet at Rapid River.

Jerry Lewis Teams Up With Chimpanzee For Movie Feature

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Comedian Jerry Lewis and the co-star of his next picture have now met for the first time—and Jerry proved no match for the chimp.

The publicity boys dug way back in the files for this hoary man-ape gimmick, but in this particular instance even Lewis had to admit that the $64 question was, "which one has the Toni?"

"How am I supposed to top this character?" Jerry protested while flashbulbs flared around him and Pierre, a five-year-old bespectacled chimpanzee, which has been in more pictures than Lewis has.

Dean Martin, Jerry's partner in comedy, was conspicuously absent.

One of Lewis' stock gags is making faces like an ape, but he was outclassed yesterday. The exuberant Pierre, at last cast for his first "A" production after a series of jungle features, stole the show.

In the picture, Pierre will imitate everything Jerry does. At their meeting Pierre took to Jerry immediately, holding out his hairy hand and grinning broadly. For the benefit of photographers they played a game of canasta and then ate a banana split apiece.

After half an hour, Jerry had succumbed completely to Pierre's charms. "We're going to get along fine together," he said. "In

Pretty War Bride, 29, And Mother Disappear From Muskegon Home

MUSKEGON, Mich.—(P)—A young "awful pretty" Belgian war bride and her mother were the objects of a search by U. S. immigration officers.

The pair, Mrs. Laure Kimes, 29, and her mother, Mrs. Marie V. Dehue, 54, left their home in Muskegon two weeks ago after the older woman had been ordered out of the United States.

She came here more than two years ago on a six-month visitors permit, which since had been periodically renewed. A further extension was requested last November.

Kimes, a paper mill worker now, met his wife in Brussels during the V-E day celebration. They were married in November, 1946, in Chicago, about a year after he was discharged from the army.

He described his wife as "awful pretty," with brown hair and light blue eyes. She is about five feet tall and weighs 118 pounds. Her mother is about the same height and weighs 200 pounds. Both women speak English with a slight French accent, Kimes said.

Immigration authorities in Detroit, where Mrs. Dehue is registered, said they would consider an extension if she is found. But by not reporting her address, they said, she is violating the law. Agents have been ordered to be on the lookout for her.

Kaiser-Frazer Shows New Low-Priced Car In Chicago Feb. 18

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT—(P)—Kaiser-Frazer announced it will show all its 1951 model cars at a Chicago auto show commencing Feb. 18.

Included will be the new low-priced five-passenger model as yet unnamed.

The only indication of the probable price of this new lowest priced car was a remark by Edgar F. Kaiser, company president, at a news conference.

"We expect to get a lot of business with it that now goes to the used car dealer selling year-old Fords, Plymouths and Chevrolets," he said.

K-F plans to put its new Frazer models into production March 17. The new Kaisers will go on the assembly line March 31 and the low-priced model by June 30.

"We may be able to better those dates," Kaiser said.

Kaiser said the production of 1950 models will be completed by Wednesday of this week. He added, however, that there still are about 4,500 of the 1950 model cars to be disposed of.

The new Kaisers and Frazers are to have hydraulic transmissions as optional equipment. All have new power plants, new suspension, new chassis and new body styles. All told there will be 21 different body styles.

Specific details of the new low-priced models are being withheld until the Chicago showing. However, it can be said the cars in two-door styles will be available in four- and six-cylinder models. They have jutting front ends and low sweep-back front fenders. The rear fenders, extending the full length of the car, sweep upward at the extreme rear.

Of prices generally, Kaiser said, the new tags are not expected to be higher. "We hope they will be lower." He said at the same time that handling of the Kaiser-Frazer line of cars will be made more attractive to the dealers in that the dealer discount will be increased. It presently averages 21½ percent.

The Twin Buttes are famous landmarks, southeast of Arco, Idaho. One is of rhyolite cone and completely surrounded by Snake river lava, while the other is an upraised block of stratified basalt.

The reason "SALADA" TEA-BAGS are so much more enjoyable than others is that there is more tea and finer quality tea in each bag.

Colorful Course

Colorful outfits for spring include the apple green wool ensemble (left) A splatter print lines the finger-tip cape-coat. Parosol pink tuxedo-styled coat (right) banded with navy blue teams up with a matching pink suit.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The versatile ensemble, one of spring fashion's favorites, blossoms out this year in colors as fresh and easy on the eyes as the first garden flowers.

Such delicate tints as parosol pink and apple green, for example, point up the simple styling of slim-lined suits and matching coats.

Ensemble toppers, which vary in length from the full-length coat to the finger-tip jacket, team up skillfully with other togs, thanks to contrasting bandings, print linings and subtle design details.

Suits can also lead an independent life. They base their appeal on such solid virtues as classic simplicity of design and freedom from clutter or distracting frou-frou.

Typical of these new wardrobes-in-one outfit is an apple-green ensemble of wool gabardine designed by Philip Mangone. The designer lines the finger-tip length cape-styled jacket with a sprightly splatter print. A matching print scarf is bow-tied at the neckline of the straight-cut suit. The flaring topper has cuffed sleeves and double fake pockets to pep up bodice interest. What gives the suit new style interest is the cut-away jacket.

Another example of the colorful spring ensemble is a full-length coat of parosol pink worsted, worn with a matching pink gabardine suit. Broad cuffs and tuxedo bandings of navy blue forecast the affiliation of this coat with spring navy togs. A stitched-down capelet rounds off the shoulderline.

Cabinet Officer's Daughter Will Be Married Today

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A cabinet officer's daughter and a White House aide will be married today (5 p. m. EST.) with President Truman looking on and his daughter Margaret, serving as bridesmaid for the fifth time.

Miss Edith Cook ("Drucie") Snyder, 24-year-old only child of the Secretary of the Treasury is to be the bride; Maj. John Earnest Horton, 30, the bridegroom. Horton's father, Leroy F. Horton, lives at Wichita, Kans.

Some 2,000 invited guests, including top ranking government and diplomatic officials, were invited to attend the Episcopal ceremony in the Washington Cathedral, and a reception at the Chevy Chase Club in suburban Maryland.

Washington society columnists proclaimed it the first wedding of a cabinet officer's daughter here since Secretary of Commerce Lammont's daughter Gertrude was married to Charles Saltzman in the early 1930s.

President and Mrs. Truman had a front pew reserved in the church, Washington's largest.

The Snyder and Truman families have been close friends for many years. The presidential family has sent a gift of table silver to Miss Snyder.

Miss Snyder's Elizabethan-style wedding dress—size 14—and the slip beneath it, which may be worn as an evening gown by itself, were made of 48 yards of featherweight Japanese silk brought back by her father from a trip to Japan in November.

Nylon Marquisette
Miss Truman's gown is made up of 20 yards of nylon marquisette and, like Miss Snyder's, has a slip which may double as an evening dress.

Major Horton will wear civilian clothes.

Miss Snyder, a tall, slender, dark-eyed brunet, will have four attendants besides Miss Truman: Mrs. John Joseph Harutun, jr., St. Louis; and Miss Harriet Johnston, Mrs. Reid Baldrige and Miss Jane Lingo, all of Washington.

The best man is to be Craig Stevens of Hollywood, whose wife, film star Alexis Smith, was expected to be among the guests.

Mary Pat Anderson
Sorority Secretary

Mary Pat Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Anderson, 914 Second avenue south, a junior at the University of Michigan, has been elected secretary of her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta. Mary Pat's roommate, Nickie Sotier, who was her house guest here last summer, was chosen president of the sorority.

Entertaining
Program Given At Club Meeting

The Escanaba Woman's club was delightfully entertained in both music and readings at its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. E. Johnson ably accompanied by Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom provided her listeners with a rare musical treat in her very fine interpretation of two enjoyable violin selections from Sarasate, the enchanting "Gypsy Airs" and the delightful "Spanish Dance".

Mrs. L. Elwood Taylor gifted monologuist from Manistique captivated her audience with many stories given in the Scandinavian dialect. Interspersed among her monologues of humorous, poignant, and tender sentiment, Mrs.

Taylor pointed out interesting facts concerning the history, customs, food habits, and characteristics of the Swedish and Norwegian people.

Mrs. Taylor in her true Scandinavian dialect read a scene from "I Remember Mamma" and told a touching story entitled "When Hannah was Eight Years Old".

Musical Readings

She concluded her program with two musical readings, "The Courtship of Miles Standish" done humorously in a Swedish dialect and a selection in English entitled "A Bit of Americana". Mrs. Arthur Hall of Manistique played the piano accompaniment for these two readings.

Mrs. James Fitzharris was program chairman for the afternoon. Mrs. H. H. Bathke, president, conducted a brief business meeting before the program.

American Denied
U. S. Citizenship

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews denied citizenship to a woman who was born in the United States. The woman, a native of Cleveland married a Hungarian in 1925 and went to Hungary to live. She remained there through the war, although she testified she always represented herself as an American national.

He asked the court to reassert her U. S. citizenship. This was denied because it was established the woman voted in a Hungarian election in 1946. Judge Matthews rejected her plea that she had to vote on pain of being jailed and losing her ration card—and that she voted anti-Communist.

Impede TrafficBuses Delayed For Many Hours

A pelting rain in the early evening of Tuesday night followed by gradually freezing temperatures, caused highways and sidewalks to be covered with sheets of glare ice and made walking and motoring extremely hazardous.

Motoring on highways in the area during the night was productive of many near mishaps, but state police report that none were called to their attention.

One case of serious injury was reported at the Shaw hospital—that of Ronald Gunderman, 613 Michigan avenue, who slipped on the ice in front of his home and broke his leg. The accident happened when he was setting out to go to work at Port Inland.

The Greyhound buses were many hours off schedule. The westbound bus, scheduled to arrive here at midnight did not arrive at the bus station here until six o'clock in the morning. It remained here until 10 o'clock after assurance was given that it could proceed with reasonable safety.

The midnight bus which takes early morning shift workers to Port Inland, gave up the attempt when the vehicle left the road a short way east of the city. Workers had to walk home.

Many people who had attended the boxing tournament at Escanaba report harrowing experiences on the way home—being forced to travel at snail's pace.

Accompanying Tuesday night's rainstorm was the phenomena of lightning and thunder.

There is to be a nominal charge for refreshments.

SUPER-ONION

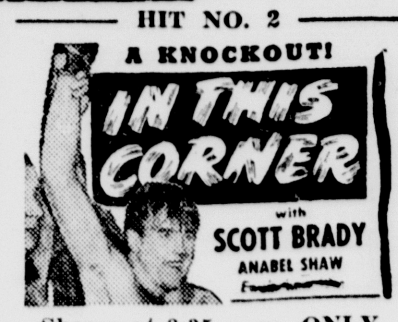

DAVIS, Calif.—(P)—A new kind of onion, the Yellow Bermuda 986, yields 35 per cent more high-quality onions than ordinary Bermudas, reports the College of Agriculture here. The 986 also matures 10 to 14 days earlier and produces fewer culls. It was developed in a 3-way experiment by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the experiment station of the University of California.

LOUISIANA FURS

Louisiana's fur crop is made up largely of muskrat pelts, of which five or six million are taken annually. Opossums, raccoons, minks, skunks, otters, and foxes help to swell the state's trapper income to about $8,000,000 yearly.

7,000,000 Kids Get Hot Lunch

Meal And Glass Of Milk 14 Cents

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—(P)—About 7,000,000 kids are being served piping hot noon-day meals with a glass of milk for 14 cents under the National School Lunch Program this year. Though this is a million more than last year and establishes a record level, the Department of Agriculture, which directs the program, tells me a lot of customers had to be turned down because of a shortage of merchandise.

"More schools need assistance this year, with rising food costs, and there has been an increase in applications, but we had to refuse them because of limited funds," a spokesman said.

The lunches are served to about one fourth of the nation's school children between the ages of five and 17. They are nutritionally balanced, and the Department of Agriculture says they make a big outlet for farm products. Something like a billion and a quarter meals are served for the school year to the tune of an annual expenditure of about $330,000,000. The program, which has been in operation since 1935, was made permanent by Congress in 1946. This year's appropriation of federal funds for the program totaled $83,500,000. States are required to match federal money, dollar for dollar. Actually, the department points out, state contributions are much greater than this, exceeding the federal appropriation by a ratio of about three to one.

In addition to federal funds provided to states in the form of reimbursement for local expenditures, the department gives to schools, free of charge, large quantities of some food acquired under price support operations. These include large quantities of fresh fruits and vegetables, canned fruit juices and dried fruits.

The average cost of preparing all types of school lunches served under the program is 25 cents. Of this amount the state contribution totals 19 cents, the federal government six cents. The state contribution consists of 14 cents paid by parents, three cents by state and local governments and two cents contributed by other groups. About one meal out of seven is served free of charge to children unable to pay. Meals are served at reduced prices to those who can pay something but not the full price.

Rats are declared to cause an annual damage of around $2,000,000,000 in this country, of which about half is the food supplies they eat.

Don Laz Becomes Second Vaulters To Clear 15 Ft.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP)—The overnight pole vaulting sensation of the college athletic world, Illinois' Don Laz, is a bewildered youth of 20 who isn't quite sure of his ability to soar 15 feet again in the immediate future.

But he's going to keep on trying. Laz will demonstrate his vaulting ability in the Millrose games in New York's Madison Square Garden on Saturday.

Laz's chance of clearing 15 feet in the Millrose games appear remote. The 180-pound athlete, who stands 6 feet, two inches, likes a 150-foot run because he needs more speed than smaller vaulters. The Garden runway allows 120 feet. Laz is used to performing on the dirt, whereas the Garden will have a board runway.

But Laz's most disturbing handicap will be the tremendous pressure of publicity which has engulfed him since last Saturday when he became the second vaulter in history to clear 15 feet. Cornelius Warmerdam, world's record holder at 15 feet, 7 3/4 inches is the only other 15-foot pole vaulter.

Laz figures he's three years ahead of his schedule.

"Last year I thought 13-6 would be my best," he explains. "I got 14 feet in my second meet. This year I hoped to improve on my best of 14 1/4, but I never dreamed of 15 feet."

As a collegian at San Jose State, Warmerdam's best vault was 14 feet, 1 inch. He was 26 and three years out of college before he first cleared 15 feet.

Laz, at 20, is six years ahead of the "Dutchman."

Great pole vaulters work at their task. Laz's work sheet includes gymnastics, sprints, hurdles, and high and broad jumps. Warmerdam took few vaults while in training. Laz vaults often at high levels.

Laz, a junior from Aurora, Ill., came to Illinois tagged as a football halfback star. But he was a third string back on the 1949 Illinois team.

Emeralds Play Negaunee Five Friday Evening

MANISTIQUE — Negaunee and Manistique will tangle here next Friday in what appears to be one of the local school's stiffest assignments of the year.

Negaunee is rated as one of the best teams in the Upper Peninsula with six games thus far to its credit while Manistique seems to be in the throes of a slump.

Manistique has demonstrated, however, that it plays best when the going is tough and assurance is given that it will play a much better brand of basketball than it did against Munising last Friday evening.

The opening lineup for Manistique will be much the same as it was last week.

Louis Likes Looks Of Young Rex Layne

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—Boxing's practically depleted heavyweight division may have a contender in 21-year-old Rex Layne of Utah. In fact, the Mormon state can boast of a couple of better than average heavies.

Layne boxed an exhibition with Joe Louis in Sault Lake City Tuesday. The retired champion floored Layne in the opening round. It was the first time the Utah prospect had been on the canvas. He got up and finished the four rounds.

It was the second time Louis had boxed Layne, who turned 14 last summer and has scored 14 knockouts in 16 fights. Joe was here just before his second meeting with Layne.

Louis was high on youthful Rex. He described Layne as "the best looking prospect" he had seen in a long time. "I think" Joe said Rex not only had the makings of a good puncher, but he gave evidence of having plenty of courage. These are two requisites in championship boxing.

What Layne needs now, according to Louis, is a lengthy session of individual coaching, such as he himself received from the late Jack Blackburn.

Chuck Spieser, Michigan State's sophomore light-heavyweight boxer, isn't exactly a novice at the home. He represented Uncle Sam on the 1948 Olympic team.

Gladstone Faces Strong Ishpeming Quintet Tomorrow

GLADSTONE—Gladstone high school's undefeated Braves are seeking their ninth straight victory when they entertain a capable Ishpeming quintet here tomorrow evening in a Great Lakes conference tilt.

The Ninth Graders and the Reserves will clash in a preliminary which will get underway about 7:15.

Coach Eldon Keil has been pushing his charges hard this week in an effort to get back into shape after the long layout. Gladstone has not played since the Munising game Jan. 17th.

He also has been working on a defense designed to stop Tom Sullivan, clever Hematite forward, who scored 29 points last Friday evening when Ishpeming drubbed Escanaba.

The game should prove one of the best on the local schedule. Gladstone is undefeated and the only blot on the record of Ishpeming is a defeat at the hands of the classy Marquette five.

Comparative scores would show the two teams on about a par for Ishpeming routed the Eskymos 59-32 while Gladstone earlier had turned the trick by a 62-33 count.

George Ruwicz and Dick Schram of Escanaba will handle the game.

Women's Pin Tournery Opens In Gladstone

First Contestants Make Bids Saturday

Gladstone—The annual Hiawatha Women's Bowling tournament will be held at the Gladstone alleys Jan. 28-29 and Feb. 4-5, it was announced today.

Team events will open the pin-smashing at 7 Saturday evening. Scheduled to take over at that time are Kasbohm Dairy, Armo, Bark River bank, Teals, Evergreens, Red Owl, Delta Hotel, Perrons and Belangers.

Individual contestants who will start slamming the maples in singles and doubles at 9 Saturday night are Algeria Westlund, Ida Salmi, Josie Carlson, Dolly Larson, Anna Fosterling, Verna Larson, Edna Reynolds, Cecile Meiers, Arlee Peterson, Helen Lewis, Dorothy Lewis, Alida Dupont, Rose O'Brien, Gladys Richards, Helen Moerssch, Florence Neumier, Freda Baribeau, Lois Swank, Viola Trombley, Nell Salmi, Eleanor Lucic, Dorothy Awre, Ullaine O'Donnell and Fern Stacey.

Diesel-Engine Car Is Entered In 500 Mile Speed Race

INDIANAPOLIS.—(AP)—A high speed diesel-engine car was entered today in the 500-mile automobile race to be run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

The car, now under construction, was entered by the Cummins Engine company of Columbus, Ind. Jimmy Jackson of Desert Hot Springs, Calif., who has been in the money in the last four races, was nominated as the driver.

The car is described as a rear-drive, six cylinder, four cycle, supercharged creation. It has piston displacement of 401 cubic inches, a bore of 4.125 inches and a stroke of five inches.

The Diesel entry will have no concession except size when it goes against gasoline-powered cars in the qualification tests. It is 10 inches longer and 350 pounds heavier than the four-cylinder Meyer-Drake gasoline engines which swept to the top 10 positions last year.

The first diesel entry in the history of the speedway finished 13th in 1931 without making a pit stop. The Cummins company withdrew from racing after that, seeing the engine's stamina had been proved. Cummins officials decided to return to racing after improvements indicated that increased speed could be combined with durability of the engine.

Dartball Is Popular Pastime Here

DARTBALL AT BREWERY

More than two hundred and fifty men and women are participating in dartball league play in Escanaba this season. Three leagues—the civic, industrial and women's—hold their matches in the dartball center in the basement of the old Delta brewery building. Teams in the church league play in the various church recreation rooms. Above, Ken Demars, Earl Frechette and Charles Robinson take a few practice shots before the start of a game. Kramer-Gonzales Set Goes To 20-18

CARMEL, Calif.—(AP)—The touring tennis pros—Jack Kramer and Richard (Pancho) Gonzales—have a new mark to shoot at.

Kramer beat Gonzales, 20-18, 6-2, last night. The marathon first set bettered the 19-17 set at Baltimore which Kramer also won.

The victory was Kramer's third in a row and increased his tour margin to 44 matches to 14 over Gonzales.

They pulverize Ice For Lake Placid Meet

LAKE PLACID, N. Y.—(AP)—Modern man is coming to the aid of mother nature to insure holding of the jumping events of the world ski championships next week.

Ice crushing machines were ordered to the Intervale Hill today after a period of mid-fifty temperatures yesterday threatened to make the jumping impossible. Pulverized ice will be used to cover the slide in case the weatherman should continue his failure to cooperate.

The world ski test is scheduled for Feb. 5 but an inter-national exhibition is booked on the same hill Sunday and the combined jumping is scheduled for Jan. 31.

16 TIGERS SIGN

DETROIT.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers had 16 players in the fold today with the signed contracts of pitchers Marlin Stuart and James Parton the latest to arrive in the Tiger front office. Stuart saw some action as a relief pitcher for the Tigers last year, tho he was farmed out to Toledo late in the season. Parton, a rookie southpaw, was obtained from Buffalo.

Jesse Owens Is Greatest Since 1900

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Jesse Owens, who in one blazing afternoon broke five world records and tied a sixth and then went on to win four Olympic gold medals, emerged today in the AP's Mid-Century Sports Poll as the greatest track athlete of the era since 1900.

The tall Negro sprinter received 201 votes from the nation's sports editors and sportscasters. Jim Thorpe, the versatile Indian who won the Olympic decathlon in 1912 only to lose his honors on professionalism charges, was second with 74. Thorpe has already won the AP poll as the greatest football player.

Third place was close between Paavo Nurmi, Finnish distance runner, with 31 votes, and Glenn Cunningham, the American distance ace with 30.

Literally hundreds of thousands of athletes have tried to smash standard world track records, but never before—nor since—did one man accomplish so much in so short a space of time as Owens did on May 25, 1935, in the Big Ten track meet at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Competing for Ohio State University, he tied the 100 yard record at :09.4, and set new world marks of :20.3 for 220 yards, :22.6 for the 220 yard low hurdles, and 26 feet 8 1/2 inches for the broad jump.

Since 200 meters is a trifle shorter than 220 yards, Owens' times in the 220 yard dash and 220 yard hurdles also were accepted as world records at the metric distances. All these astounding records were formally accepted as international standards.

Then Owens became the brightest star of the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin, winning the 100 and 200 meters, the broad jump, and running a leg on the victorious 400 meter relay team.

Ben Hogan Fires 71 In Phoenix Warmup

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Sam Snead may be the logical favorite, but the crowd today will be watching the fellow for the $10,000 Ben Hogan open golf tournament here was named.

Most of the gallery at yesterday's pro-amateur preliminary followed Hogan, the bantam belter whose fellow pros didn't think would recover from critical auto accident injuries before next summer.

He surprised them by tying for first place in the Los Angeles open although he later lost to Snead in the playoff.

Ben arrived here Monday with the flu as an added burden. It just about had him down the next two days.

Mary Agnes Beaten By Alice Bauer, 6-4

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Jean Hopkins and petite Marlene Bauer ruled as favorites today at the opening of the second round of the 10th annual Helen Lee Doherty Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Hopkins, 20-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, veteran of many tournaments, closed a rally on the back nine to upset defending champion Dorothy Miller, Atlanta, Ga., 2 and 1, in the initial round yesterday.

Marlene, 15-year-old Midland, Texas, sensation turned back Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., 4 and 2.

Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Texas, defeated Mrs. Charles Harting of Miami, 3 and 2.

Alice Bauer, 22, sister of Marlene, beat Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 6 and 4.

Eskymos Travel To Soo Tomorrow

Still seeking their second victory of the season, the Escanaba Eskymos will journey to Sault Ste. Marie to battle the strong Soo Blue Devils tomorrow night.

The Blue Devils came within an ace of pulling the upset of the season when they invaded Ishpeming last Saturday night and held the powerful Hematites to a 52-50 victory.

And to win, Ishpeming's Art Pirto had to intercept a Soo out-of-bounds pass, dribble half the length of the floor and score a perfect layup in the last 10 seconds of play.

Soo gave Ishpeming a big surprise, you can bet on that. The Blue Devils are big this year and under their new coach, they have learned how to control the ball.

You have to know how to control the ball to almost beat Ishpeming on its own floor. Coach C. Watson's cagers are said to have at least a 10-point edge on the opposition when they play at home. They play their home gym with all the finesse of a concert violinist.

All of which means the Blue Devils have quite a team. They had a 23-17 halftime edge over Ishpeming and maintained a 40-31 margin going into the fourth quarter. Ishpeming pulled the game out of fire only with a 21-point spurge in the last period while holding Soo to 10.

Ten Eskymos will make the Soo jaunt in two automobiles leaving at about 10 tomorrow morning. They are Jim Heiden, Axel Anderson, Paul Baldwin, Buddy Weber and Warren Johnston (the likely starting lineup). Jim and Nick Prokos, Tom Smith, Dick Shomin and Dick Johnson.

Ishpeming defeated Escanaba, 59-32, last Friday night.

Despite the acknowledged potency of the Soo quintet, the Eskymos are going to Lou City determined to make a good showing.

Marquette's Sentinels, whose lead in the Northern Lakes Hockey league was cut to four points with Canadian Soo's 12-4 victory over Eagle River last night, will be host to the Soo sextet at 8:30 Saturday night.

The game was postponed from tonight because of the delay in opening Marquette's new, artificial ice rink. Undertaken as a community project, workers and volunteers speeded efforts today to have the rink ready for Saturday.

It will be the second artificial ice rink in Upper Michigan. The American Soo's Pullar Stadium was constructed before the war.

Among guests of honor invited to the Palestra opening program Saturday are Escanaba's Mayor Robert E. LeMire, Larry Pratt, of Escanaba, president of the U. P. Hockey league, and F. H. "Ted" Baldwin, chairman of the Escanaba Hawks' board of directors.

Spartan Swimmers Will Try To Upset Ohio State Saturday

EAST LANSING.—(AP)—Michigan State's strong swimming team will make a bid for national recognition by trying to upset Ohio State here Saturday.

Ohio State was the NCAA champion last year and placed second in the NAAU indoor swimming championships.

The Spartans never have beaten the Buckeyes in a series that dates back to 1932. Closest MSC came in nine meets was a 43-41 edging in 1948.

The Michigan State swimming team easily won its first three meets this season. Coach Charles McCaffrey, Jr., has all his best men back from last year and this is looked upon as the season that may produce a champion.

Love For Near-Blind Veteran—Frees Wife In Ohio Mail Thefts

CLEVELAND, O.—Love of a woman for a near-blind veteran of the Battle of the Bulge won her freedom from a mail theft charge in federal court.

Mrs. Elaine H. Hanley, 27, was placed on probation after federal judge Emerich B. Freed heard this story:

Aloysius Hanley, 29, almost blind from war wounds, started making leather goods so he wouldn't be a burden to anyone. His fiancée—now Mrs. Hanley—took them and told him she sold them at the hotel where she worked as cashier.

Al's morale went up. He proposed. She accepted—but four weeks after their marriage she was arrested and charged with theft of $225 in checks from mail addressed to the hotel's residents.

Tearfully she told the court the money she stole went to Al for the leather goods—except for a little she kept "to buy some clothes and other things we'd need when we were married."

Announcing he was placing her on probation, Judge Freed said "I'll take the risk involved in setting you free—but I don't think the risk amounts to much."

For average winter feeding, most farmers count on three tons of hay for each milk cow.

President Asks More Cash For Atomic Speedup

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON—(P)—With the nation's atomic program going faster than expected, President Truman has asked congress to let the government sign $87,650,000 in contracts now, instead of next summer.

The White House submitted the request for additional contract authority yesterday, without waiting for adoption of the budget for the next fiscal year beginning on July 1.

While the request came in the midst of widespread speculation about a program for making hydrogen bombs—a super-explosive far mightier than conventional atomic bombs—there seemed little reason to relate the two.

For one thing, the cost of an H-bomb project has been unofficially estimated at from $200,000,000 to more than a billion dollars.

The White House said the authority to let $87,650,000 worth of contracts now is needed for an atomic plant-expansion plan announced last October.

The estimate, said the White House, "provides for the acceleration of certain projects in the reactor development program and initiation of some new projects."

Reactor is the scientific name for a power-producing atomic engine. So far, work on such engines is still in the experimental and development phase. No atomic engines, fueled with uranium, are yet producing power commercially nor are they expected to for some years.

However, the reactor development program is of major interest to those who foresee atomic power as a means of propelling ships. The navy, seeking submarines of unlimited range and capable of long voyages under the sea's surface, is keenly interested in the reactor program.

In addition to requesting the added contract authority, Mr. Truman also asked for another $7,000,000 to begin construction of Tennessee Valley power facilities to provide "the large quantity of additional power needed for operation of a new atomic energy facility" at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Rich Iron Ore Strike Made In Venezuela By U. S. Steel Crews

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK—(P)—A five-year American search for iron ore is climaxed today with news of a rich strike overseas.

It may allay the bogey of what would happen if another war ate into the nation's own fast dwindling, although still extensive, ore sources. And it turns a heavier spotlight on the Atlantic seaboard as the favored home of future steel mills.

Goaded by this bogey, thousands of American engineers have tramped over the lands bordering the South and North Atlantic. They have found new deposits in Labrador and in Liberia. Today they report "finding" the largest and richest iron ore deposit in the history of the world.

The United States Steel Corporation has staked claim to a mountain of iron of almost theoretical maximum purity in the interior of oil-rich Venezuela. Mining engineers estimate the mountain has one billion tons of iron ore. This compares with a little more than one and a quarter billion tons of high grade natural iron ore reserves still left in the Lake Superior region.

The nation also has Bethlehem Steel's Venezuelan iron deposits, and others found in Labrador, to fall back upon. And the steel industry plans to develop expensive concentration plants to grind and separate the low-grade taconite ores in the Superior region. The rich new strike, together with the others, means that the nation's available sources of iron and steel have been extended many years into the future.

Not only are iron and steel the sinews of the nation's peacetime growth, they are also the necessities of its defense. In the last war we used one half billion tons of iron ore. We would need at least that much more near at hand if the next one breaks. That is why the defense chiefs want to piece out the Lake Superior sources as long as they can.

"Big Steel's" discovery also means that Venezuela has become doubly important to American foreign policy—for ore as well as oil. The defense of the Caribbean becomes just that much more essential.

And the possibility that Venezuelan and Labrador ore may be brought here within the next few years makes the east coast of the United States vastly more important as the location of future steel mills. The discovery in Venezuela may explain one of the reasons why U. S. Steel plans to put up a mill between Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J. In time the entire steel industry picture might shift, as Lake Superior ore declines, and Venezuelan and Labrador ores move in.

The first ore from the Venezuelan mountain is expected, however, to move to the Birmingham, Ala., mills. The Journal of Metals, official magazine of the metals branch of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, says that the richer ore coming from Venezuela could increase the Birmingham mills' production by 15 per cent, without any change in equipment.

This is the picture that the Journal sees by 1960:
U. S. Steel Corporation will be using 15 million tons annually from Venezuela, 10 million tons of Lake Superior taconite concentrates. (By late 1953, U. S. Steel hopes to be getting 10 million tons annually from Venezuela.)

Companies other than U. S. Steel and Bethlehem by 1960 will be using: 10 million tons annually from Labrador, 17 million tons of taconite concentrates, one-half million tons from Liberia, and four million tons of Venezuelan ore bought from "Big Steel" and Bethlehem. The Bethlehem ore in Venezuela is estimated to total 60 million tons, and the company plans to be taking out nearly 2 1/2 million tons annually by 1952.

To be getting 10 million tons out of frozen Labrador by 1960 would require a $175 million investment, the Journal estimates. It would involve a long rail haul to the St. Lawrence and then 1,370 miles of water haul to the Baltimore-Philadelphia-Trenton areas.

The Venezuelan ore also requires a 91-mile railhaul, then a long barge haul down the Orinoco to ocean carriers. And a 2,120-mile voyage to Philadelphia. "Big Steel" is reported planning a $400 million investment on the project. It may build ore carriers of 45,000 tons. (The Great Lakes carriers haul around 18,000 tons).
